Excerpt: . . . when it was in their Power to pursue. and hang them. And they had all the Reason in the World to believe, that a Government, that had armed such Men of desperate Fortunes and Resolutions, was so far from protecting them, which is the only End of all Government, that on the contrary it designed to destroy both their Lives and Fortunes. The latter of which, as will appear by the Sequel, they in a manner intirely lost. The Support and Happiness of a Kingdom consists chiefly in the equal and impartial Administration of Justice; and that depends on the Choice of fit and duly qualified Persons for filling the Courts, and executing the Laws; by those Laws no Man was capable of being a Judge, who had not taken the Oath of Supremacy. -The Judges he found on the Bench had taken it; but yet some of them were known to be rather too favourable to Papists; and, considering G 2 tk the Influence King James had in his Brothers Time in disposing of Offices, it is not to be imagined, that he would suffer any Man to sit as a Judge, who had not been favourably represented unto him in that Point; though we must own he was mistaken in some of them: Hence it came that Protestants did frequently complain of the Favour and Countenance their Adverfaries found in the Courts of Justice, even in King Charles the lids Time. But when...
